Proceedings of the International Conference 1996
on
“English and Islam: Creative Encounters”
(Selected Papers)

This highly successful international conference, both in content and participation, was organized by the Department of English Language and Literature, International Islamic University Malaysia. Papers presented were as interestingly diverse as they were intellectually stimulating. So also were the participants, who came from far and near, giving the conference a truly international character. It was indeed a meeting of the East and the West, covering a full range of topics, from the discriminating assessment of English translations of the meanings of the Quran to that of Muslim contributions to the literatures in English and the science of the language itself, from Western writers' literary encounters with Islam and Muslims to the postcolonial and postmodern reactions of Muslims to several literary texts in English, from the role of dictionaries to the processes of language adaptation by young Muslim learners. Edited with a full-length introduction by Jalal Uddin Khan and Adrian E. Hare, the proceedings, conveniently and judiciously classified by the editors under different headings, have come out in the form of a book, English and Islam: Creative Encounters, well-produced, published by the Research Centre of the University. The book has a wonderful selection of about forty-five gracefully written and thought-provoking papers occupying a space of over 600 pp. Already reasonably priced, the publication is currently being sold at a discount price of RM35.00 for institutions and RM30.00 for individuals.

THE INTERNATIONAL ISLAMIC UNIVERSITY MALAYSIA

The International Islamic University Malaysia (IIUM) was established in 1983, as an institution of higher learning by the government of Malaysia in accordance with the wishes and initiative of the Prime Minister, Dato' Seri Dr. Mahathir Mohamad. During recent years, the university has expanded on all fronts and is offering courses in Islamic Revealed Knowledge and Human Sciences, Economics and Management, Laws, Medicine, and Engineering. It is also planning to develop in other areas of knowledge. The student population has rapidly grown to over nine thousand. The students and the faculty truly represent an international character. The university regards knowledge as a trust from Allah, to be utilised in accordance with His will, and the quest of knowledge is regarded as an act of worship. This philosophy of knowledge and education is based on the recommendations of the First World Conference on Muslim Education held in Makkah in 1977.

THE KULLIYYAH OF ISLAMIC REVEALED KNOWLEDGE AND HUMAN SCIENCES

The Kulliyah (Faculty) of Islamic Revealed Knowledge and Human Sciences was established in January 1990 with a new approach and vision. Many universities in the Muslim world and elsewhere offer programmes in Social Sciences, Islamic Studies and other professional areas. However, with their faculties of Islamic Studies they still observe a secular classification of knowledge as Islamic and non-Islamic. This faculty of IIUM is unique in the sense that it combines in all its academic programmes the contents of Islamic Revealed Knowledge in an integrated manner with Human Sciences. While teaching Human Sciences, the subject matter is presented in an objective manner without excluding the Islamic views on that subject. Added to it is a content of coursework in areas of Islamic Revealed Knowledge such as Qur'anic Studies, Hadith Studies, Fiqh, Sirah and Islamic History.
