FOREWORD

السلام عليكم ورحمة الله وبركاته

Welcome to the first Special Issue of 2023 of Journal of Islam in Asia. First and foremost, we would like to thank Allah SWT for blessing us with the opportunity to publish this Special Issue.

The publication of this issue involves a collaboration between Journal of Islam in Asia and Kolej Universiti Islam Perlis (KUIPs) whereby the articles are co-edited by representatives from KUIPs alongside the editors of Journal of Islam in Asia. This Special Issue consists of academic papers that have been presented at the International Conference on Islamic Contemporary and Management 2021 (ICICM2021) organised by KUIPs.

This Special Issue consists of fifteen articles in which, six of the articles are in Arabic, one article is in English, and eight articles are in Malay. The first article of this issue is The Importance of Confession in Proving The Crime of Adultery in Criminal and Sharī'a Law in Kelantan Throughout 2015. Through library study, the authors discuss the act of confession in the field of law and emphasised its importance especially in dealing with the crime of adultery. The second article, Word and its Morphological Conjugation in Hausa language "Phonemic-analytical study" (Hausa-ize words as a model) studies the linguistic conjugation of Hausa-ize word by adopting analytical contrastive descriptive approach in determining the methods and factors that influence the formation of Hausa-ize words. The third Arabic article, An Analysis of The Relevance of the Position Between The Subject and The Predicate in Surah At-Tawbah analyses Surah At-Tawbah semantically and clarifies the meaning, types, and significance of nominal sentences in the process of obtaining the correct understanding of the Qur'an. Besides that, the fourth Arabic article is The Contextual Characteristics of The al-Nawāsikh in The Mu'allaqat al-Ḥārith Ibn Hillizah: Semantic Analysis. In this article, the authors explore the selected poetic verses of the Muallaqat of Al-Hareth bin Hillizah in search of the subject of abrogation through semantic analysis. The next Arabic article is Plants in Surah al-Mufaṣṣal and Human Responsibility: An Analytical Study on Narrative Interpretation. This article studies the elements of nature, specifically plants in Surah al-Mufaṣṣal, and outlines the relationship between the mentioning of plants and human responsibility towards the environment according to Tafsīr bi al-Ma'thūr. Lastly, the sixth Arabic article in this issue is Understanding The Terminology of 'Siyahah' in The Qur'an and Sunnah. The authors of this article seek to understand the root meaning of the term 'siyahah' according to its usage in the Qur'an and Sunnah through inductive, descriptive, and comparative analytical study on the collected verses and hadith containing the term 'siyahah' and its synonym.

The next article, which is the only English article in this issue is The Essence of Shariah Enforcement and Its Necessity for Human Prosperity: An Analysis of Sayyid Abu 'Alā Mawdūdī. This article explores the concept and principles of Shariah enforcement as well as its application based on Sayyid Abu 'Alā Mawdūdī's perspective to demonstrate the value and capability of Islamic law in solving problems.

The first Malay article in this issue is An Analysis of The Hadith Argument of Fada'il Al-A'mal by Syaykh Dawud Al-Fatani in Jam'U Al-Fawa'id Wa Jawahir Al-Qala'id. This article critically evaluates the method of presenting hadiths in Shaykh Dawud's fada'il al-a'mal in Jam'u al-Fawa'id wa Jawahir al-Qala'id and compares it with the methods used by the majority of hadiths scholars. The second Malay article is The Acknowledgment of Malay Scholar to The Creed of Salaf: A Study Based on The Thought of Syeikh Abdul Qadir Al-Mandili Through A Shield for Those Who are Commissioned or Faith Knot According to The Salaf. In this article, the authors refer to the thought of Syeikh Abdul Qadir Al-Mandili to discuss the creed of Salaf in terms of its acceptance as part of the Ahl Sunnah Wal Jamaah. The third Malay article is The Implementation of Fiqh Methods During Medical Emergencies: Analysis of The Selected Fatwas from The Selangor Mufti Department. The authors of this article attempt to analyse the selected fatwas from the Selangor Mufti Department, specifically looking at the implementation of fiqh methods in medical emergency cases. The next Malay article, Announcing Marriage Through Social Media: A Research Based on Shariah Law and The Current Economic Situation discusses the Shariah point of view on the contemporary choice of announcing marriage through social media. The fifth Malay article, The Framework of Spiritual Development Model in Learning Engineering Subjects suggests a conceptual framework of spiritual development model that can be integrated into engineering subjects to help students to achieve a balance between their studies and spirituality. Besides that, the An Analysis of the Role of Ethics and Civilization in PdP Online article explores the practical aspect of adab in online PdP sessions among Malaysian students. The Construction of Guideline for Delivering and Accepting Hadith in Religious Television Programme: An Analysis on The Main Criteria Required article suggests a guideline that can be used to produce quality Islamic television programmes and to ensure the authenticity of hadiths that are being used. The Politeness of Qur'anic Antonomasia Language in Revealing The Meaning of Intimacy in the last article for this Special Issue. The authors of this article examine Quranic antonomasia in showing politeness when discussing the taboo subject of intimacy.

Lastly, the Editorial Committee of Journal of Islam in Asia would like to congratulate all authors whose writings are published in the Special Issue of 2023. May your contributions help to further flourish the field of academia and reach wider audiences. We would like to thank everyone, especially the guest editors who have contributed to the process of completion and publication of this issue. May your efforts be rewarded by Allah SWT.
