

NOTES ON CONTRIBUTORS

Fethi B Jomaa Ahmed obtained a Ph.D. in Political Sociology in 2003. His research covers contemporary sociological issues, Islamic Studies and Ethic and has appeared in several academic journals including Global Economic Observer, Intellectual Discourse, Islam in Asia, among others. He has been engaged in public speaking in New Zealand, Australia, Malaysia, Tunisia and Qatar. He delivered many specialized lectures and seminars, and participated in several international conferences and workshops. His email is fahmed@hbku.edu.qa

Fauziah Fathil is currently a teaching staff at the Department of History and Civilization, Kulliyah of Islamic Revealed Knowledge and Human Sciences, International Islamic University Malaysia (IIUM), Malaysia. She obtained her PhD from the School of Oriental and African Studies (SOAS), University of London, United Kingdom in 2005. Her areas of interests include modern East Asian history and Malaysian history. Her email is fauziahfathil@iium.edu.my Wan Suhana Wan Sulong is a lecturer at the Department of History and Civilization, Kulliyah of Islamic Revealed Knowledge and Human Sciences, International Islamic University Malaysia (IIUM). She received her PhD in Southeast Asian Studies at University of Hull, United Kingdom in 2004. Her area of research mainly concerns with the history of Malaya especially during the period from 1900 to 1941. Her email is wsuhana@iium.edu.my.

Nor Faridah Abdul Manaf is Professor of English at the English Language and Literature Department, Kulliyah of Islamic Revealed Knowledge and Human Sciences, International Islamic University Malaysia (IIUM). She received her PhD in English at Finders University in South Australia in 1998. Her areas of interests include women's writing, English Renaissance Literature and Post-colonial Literature. She is also interested in History in particular history of the Malay Nusantara. Her email is nfaridah@iium.edu.my.

Aida Mokhtar is a lecturer at the Department of Communication, International Islamic University Malaysia. She attained her PhD from the University of Stirling, United Kingdom in 2011. Her research areas of interest are: Islamic advertising, social communication, advertising regulations, ethical advertising and integrated marketing communication. Her first set of key achievements are demonstrated in her attempts to develop Islamic advertising through research studies, publications and seminars. Her second key achievement was in interviewing the late Creative Director, Yasmin Ahmad for her PhD thesis. She can be reached at: aidam@iium.edu.my Nurul Miza Mohd Rashid completed her master's in 2016. She was awarded the MSc in Psychological Research. She attained Merit for her overall achievement and a distinction for my thesis. Prior to this, in 2015, Miza obtained 1st class degree in BHsc of Psychology degree with Honours at the International Islamic University of Malaysia. Currently, she is working with the International Islamic University Malaysia on a research project funded by the Ministry of Education Malaysia. She is in her 2nd year of PhD and closely working with an academic member at the University of Edinburgh in writing a paper on Developmental Psychology. Her email is miza_rashid@yahoo.com

Munira Arshad is a psychology research scholar who has graduated from Upper Iowa University, USA in 2007 and completed both her Master's degree and PhD from the reputed International Islamic University Malaysia in 2016. Her main research interests are rooted in the fields of women studies, Islamic counseling, cross-cultural research and youth and family well-being. Versatile in her approach and driven in the field of psychology, she can also adopt to an Islamic style of counseling. She has co-authored one book: Marriage Is Definitely Made in Heaven: A Phenomenological Study on the Marital Satisfaction of Indian Muslim Women. She has lived extensively in Malaysia and has worked as an interpreter with the Urdu speaking refugees at United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees. Her email is arshadmunira@gmail.com

Arshad Islam is an Associate Professor at IIUM. He holds B.Sc. and M.A. degrees from Gorakhpur University, and an M.Phil. and Ph.D. from Aligarh Muslim University, India. He is currently the Chairman of the Department of History and Civilization at the International Islamic University Malaysia (IIUM), which he joined in 1991. He has taught numerous courses in Southeast Asian, Central Asian, and Indian History, as well as the History of Science, Islamic History and Civilization, and the Rise and Fall of Civilizations. His research interests include the Malay Sultanates, the coming of Islam to South and Southeast Asia, and Central Asian history. He is widely published. Some of his published work includes Islam in Sindh (Kuala Lumpur: IIUM Press, 2001), and the Preface of the Encyclopaedia of Islamic Shariat (10 Vols.), Pentagon Press, New Delhi (2010), and articles on Islamic reform movements, Muslim educators and scholars.

Suleyman Temiz, a Turkish scholar. He graduated from 19 Mayıs University in Samsun, Turkey and he completed his master degree from Gaziosmanpasa University in Tokat. In 2010, he entered History of Republic of Turkey classes in Gaziosmanpasa University, Vocational School in Erbaa. He joined to Turkish Embassy in Kuala Lumpur as Consular Officer in 2012, till 2017. He obtained his PhD from IIUM in 2017, on his research Political Change in Turkey: A Case Study of Recep Tayyip Erdogan 2002-2014. After finishing his duty in 2017, he joined the Department of Political Science and International Relations, Faculty of Economics and Administrative Sciences, University of Iğdır, Turkey. His email is suleyman.teemiz@gmail.com

Baidruel Hairiel Abd Rahim is a school teacher by profession and currently on study leave, under full scholarships program of Hadiah Latihan Persekutuan (HLP) for Malaysia civil servant. He is currently pursuing PhD degree in Sociology and Anthropology in IIUM. He is also a product of the same institution back in 2002 and 2013 (BA and MA degree). His research interest focuses on the area of sociology of sport, social anthropology and sociology of disabilities. During his teaching years in schools, he enjoyed coaching his students in multiple sports and physical activities such as squash, track and field, and dance.

Nurazzura Mohamad Diah is currently an Associate Professor at the Department of Sociology and Anthropology, Kulliyah of Islamic Revealed Knowledge and Human Sciences, IIUM. She obtained her PhD in Anthropology (Medical Anthropology) from the University of Western Australia (UWA) in 2010. She is a member of the Malaysian Social Sciences Association (PSSM). Her main research interests include health education, women's health, disability, youth and sports, aborigines and migrants. She co-edited two books: Modernity and Traditionalism: Issues and Perspectives in Sociology and Social Anthropology and Understanding Africa: The Stories of Culture and Change. To date, she has published many journal articles both nationally and internationally.

Mohd Salleh Aman is an Associate Professor and PhD holder in Leisure Studies focus in the area of sport and physical recreation, graduated from Lincoln University New Zealand. Dr. Mohd Salleh Aman completed a BA (Hons) degree in Geography and a Master of Education degree in Health, Physical Education and Sport, University of Malaya. He has had 4 completed PhD students and 9 are ongoing under his supervision. The research field under his supervision includes leisure, recreation, sport management, sport education, sport tourism, safety in sport and coaching management. He published writing works in the form of modules, text books and journals. His professional competency is shown as a Professional Tennis Coach, an International Qualified Tennis Umpire / Referee and also expert in sports event management and recreational outdoor leadership.

Rosdianah Yacho is a PhD candidate from International Islamic University Malaysia. She completed her Master's degree in this university too in 2015. Her main research interest is the historical and cultural development of Sabah. She wrote a book: The Natives and Chinese Community in Sabah, 1945-1963 and co-authored a book: Civic Consciousness and Volunteerism. Her email is rosdianahyacho@yahoo.com

Zulqernain Haider Subhani is a master student of sociology and anthropology at the Department of Sociology and Anthropology, Kulliyah of Islamic Revealed Knowledge and Human Sciences, IIUM. He did his first master from Al-Jamia al-Islamia Kerala in Quranic studies. He pursued two diplomas in Arabic language and Islamic studies from Imam Mohammad University, Riyadh KSA. His main areas of interest are migration studies, political sociology, Middle East and contemporary Islamic thought. He published one paper jointly on Constitutionalism, pluralism and Islamic Political Thought. He writes columns and articles in many Urdu magazines and newspapers.

Nor Azlin Tajuddin started her career as a research executive at the Institute of Strategic research in 1994. She is currently a lecturer at the Department of Sociology and Anthropology, International Islamic University Malaysia since 2001. She obtained her PhD in Environmental Anthropology from the University of Western Australia (UWA) in 2013. She teaches subjects like Introduction to Sociology, Research Methodology, Youth and Society, and Environment and Society. Dr. Azlin's main areas of interest include quantitative and qualitative research methods, society's strategies and responses to water and solid waste pollution, flood and climate change issues. She was awarded best student award by Department of Sociology and Anthropology, IIUM from 1990 to 1994. In 2009 she became Winner for the Best 10-minutes talk, 5th Annual School of Social Cultural Studies Graduate Conference, UWA.

Nurazzura Mohamad Diah is currently an Associate Professor at the Department of Sociology and Anthropology, Kulliyah of Islamic Revealed Knowledge and Human Sciences, IIUM. She obtained her PhD in Anthropology (Medical Anthropology) from the University of Western Australia (UWA) in 2010. She is a member of the Malaysian Social Sciences Association (PSSM). Her main research interests include health education, women's health, disability, youth and sports, aborigines and migrants. She co-edited two books: Modernity and Traditionalism: Issues and Perspectives in Sociology and Social Anthropology and Understanding Africa: The Stories of Culture and Change. To date, she has published many journal articles both nationally and internationally.

Ahmed Cagri Inan has completed bachelors degree from the Karadeniz Technical University in 2013 Pursuing Masters' programme in History & Civilization, International Islamic University Malaysia (Turkish Ministry of Education Scholarship Student). His email is ahmedinan24@gmail.com.

Noor Mohammad Osmani is currently an Associate Professor, Department of Qur'an and Sunnah Studies, International Islamic University Malaysia. He obtained his Ph.D in 2002 in the Department of Qur'an and Sunnah Studies from the International Islamic University Malaysia. Prior to that he obtained Honours and Masters from Bangladesh Islamic University Kushtia. He marked excellence in his Masters program from IIUM in 1995 by achieving outstanding results. He stood First Class First in Kamil Fiqh and First Class Third in Fadil in Bangladesh Madrasah Education Board. He has natural ability of translation from Arabic to English and vice versa. He speaks and writes in four different languages, namely Arabic, English, Urdu and Bengali (native speaker).

Belayet Hossen is a master's final year student, Department of Qur'an and Sunnah Studies, KIRKHS, IIUM, and achieved bachelor from Department of Quranic Sciences and Islamic Studies, Faculty of Shariah, IIUC, Bangladesh. Currently, he is doing research on "Quranic Solutions to Women's Problems in Workplace of Bangladesh". He has written 12 scholarly articles on different contemporary issues of Islam and presented 5 papers in international conferences in Malaysia and it's beyond. Five of articles already have been published in different journals. Beside this, he is the Head of Conference and Publication Bureau at PGSS- Postgraduate Students' Society, IIUM for 2017/2018 session. His email is belayeth.bd@gmail.com

Qutub Shah achieved bachelor from Department of Dawah and Usul al-Din, Islamic University of Madinah, master from the same Department. Currently, he is pursuing PhD at the Department of Comparative Religion, KIRKHS, IIUM. He is the first translator of the Quran into Rohingya language.

Maulana Akbar Shah @ U Tun Aung is an Assistant Professor, Department of Fundamental and Intern-Disciplinary Studies, Kulliyah of Islamic Knowledge and Human Sciences, IIUM.